

THE PROJECT

Your Story Matters

Migration is a popular theme. Yet, whose voices will be heard? We at the LWL museum for archeology want to hear your story and develop an app with you.

We show the 280,000 year history of migration in our permanent exhibition to show: migration was always an important part of human history.

However, the project „Your Story Matters“ focuses on the present of migrant communities. The app will bring their stories to the permanent exhibition. For this, we need you and your perspective.

BECOME PART OF THE TEAM

To broaden our perspective during the development of the app we need you. We're searching especially for people from migrant and BiPoC-communities.

You can help us make the right app for the target audience.

We're interested in your perspective, expertise, wishes and ideas. So become part of the team and share your thoughts. To participate, you don't even need to be a programmer.

HOW DOES IT WORK

There's going to be a workshop over two days at the beginning of July. It will take place at the museum or online, depending on what the situation allows.

During the workshops we will conceptualize the app, figure out how it will function and how it reaches the target audience. In between workshops we're going to communicate via Slack.

WHAT'S YOUR BENEFIT

- You'll get a certificate for your honorary post
- You can test the prototype
- If you're from further away we will pay for transportation, board and lodging.
- Awesome food.
- Your name will be in the credits of the app
- Annual tickets for the museum
- Participate in our special events (depending on what's going on)
- Depending on your interests we can provide publications and catalogs from the museum.
- A peak behind the scenes of work at the museum and app development
- We help you realize your own ideas about digital communication and archeological projects

THIS IS HOW YOU PARTICIPATE

If that sounds good to you and you want to develop this app with us, just fill out the form behind this link.
